Youths of 13 and 15 Years Said to Have Confessed to Big Theft From John F. Hebring.

NEARLY $300 WAS STOLEN

Detectives Find $209 of Cash Said to Have Been Taken on Sunday and Carefully Hidden.

Two hundred and nine dollars stolen from the home of John F. Hebring, a grocer, of 401 South Randolph Street, was recovered last night by Detective F. L. Krenzel and Detective-Sergeants Wiley and Kellam. The recovery of the money followed the arrest of two boys, Walker Wilkinson, fifteen years old, of 402 South Randolph Street, and Joseph Reagan, thirteen years old, of 1221 Beverly Street, who are accused of the theft, and who are said to have confessed to it.

The robbery took place some time Sunday afternoon while Mr. Hebring and his family were out driving. When he returned he found that a buffet, in which he kept a large sum of cash in gold and notes, was forced open, with between $240 and $300 missing. Although he reported the matter to the police it was not made public at the time.

Detective Krenzel was assigned to the case. Upon investigation he found that entrance to the Hebring home was made by means of a false key which was used to open a back door. He learned that Wilkinson and other boys were frequently seen playing in the house and often went in with the knowledge of Mr. Hebring. Their presence there Sunday afternoon was barely noticed by neighbors. Krenzel secured information which pointed to the two boys in the first place.

Arrested at Night School. With Wiley and Kellam last night he found Wilkinson at the Railroad Young Men's Christian Association, where he took them to his home and into his cellar, where $102 neatly tied in a small package, was found hidden on top of a beam.

The detectives then went to the home of Joseph Reagan, and he at first stoutly denied that he had stolen the money, but when told of Wilkinson's confession, he is said to have admitted it and shown where he had hidden his share of the loot. The sum of $107 was found under a barrel in a woodshed in the rear of his home.

While the youngsters face the grave charge of housebreaking they were not locked up, but were paroled by Krenzel for their appearance this morning in court.

Wilkinson, the police say, has never before been in trouble and has always been regarded as a promising youth. He is employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

According to Krenzel, Wilkinson and Reagan watched the Hebring home until they saw the family depart, and then went in and stole the money from the drawer they forced open.

Richmond business buildings yielded up the secrets of their cellars to the shovel-and-cart brigade of the Street Cleaning Department yesterday. "The law in these cases is very explicit and says that persons exposed to contagious diseases must be quarantined. In view of the fact that this man went from Richmond to Norfolk aboard a train, it is a matter for the State health authorities to deal with. I feel no alarm whatsoever that Overly may have been the means of spreading the disease in Richmond."

Overly had been living at the Railroad Young Men's Christian Association, and his roommate was stricken with the disease. As a precaution the health authorities vaccinated several persons at the Young Men's Christian Association, including Overly. In view of the latter's close contact with the sick man, it was deemed best to place him under quarantine. Dr. Levy said that Overly had shown no symptoms of the malady and that the vaccine had responded properly.

Overly disappeared Sunday. Just how and at what time persons at the hospital could not say. He did not appear for two meals, but it was thought that he was merely walking over the large farm and would return later. When he did not show up yesterday Dr. Levy enlisted the services of Major Werner, with the result that Overly was found in Norfolk.

Overly was employed by the Union News Company.

Man Who Escaped From Smallpox Hospital Is Being Detained in Norfolk by the Police.

E. A. Overly, twenty years old, who had been isolated at the City Smallpox Hospital, in Henrico County, because he had been in intimate contact with a person suffering from the pest, and who escaped from the institution Sunday, was located yesterday in Norfolk. He will be detained pending the disposition of his case by the State Board of Health.

Chief of Police Werner received a telegram from Norfolk last night saying that Overly was under detention, and he at once notified Chief Health Officer E. C. Levy.

"I will take up the case with the State Board at once," said Dr. Levy. "The law in these cases is very explicit and says that persons exposed to contagious diseases must be quarantined. DAMAGED BY FIRE

Antique Furniture and Portraits Burned in Home of Mrs. W. M. Marshall.

Fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated stove in the back parlor, did several hundred dollars' damage yesterday afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. M. Marshall, 401-1/2 East Main Street. Antique furniture and several old portraits were badly damaged by the fire and chemicals. Engine Company No. 4, which responded to a "still" alarm, had the blaze out in a few minutes.

"I cannot say just what my loss will be," said Mrs. Marshall. "However, it is all covered by insurance."

Flood Introduces Bill Appropriating Money to Honor Memory of Virginian.

A monument in Richmond to George Rogers Clark, the conqueror of the Northwest Territory, is proposed in a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman H. D. Flood, of the Tenth Virginia District. The measure appropriates the sum of $25,000 for this purpose.

It is a matter of much comment that little attention is paid in these days to the memory of the man who, more than all others, made possible the retention of Indiana, Illinois and other vast territories in the hands of the infant republic. His exploits, when he led his band across the Alleghenies and amid great hardships and with all odds against him, possessed himself of Vincennes and other British strongholds, are now confined mostly to the pages of school histories.

Clark was born in Albemarle County, Va. He was sent as a representative of Kentucky County to the Virginia Legislature, in session at Williamsburg. Later, when his dream of gaining for the United States the great country north of the Ohio and west of the Alleghenies possessed his soul, he first gained the consent of Patrick Henry, then Governor of Virginia, to try out his project. Consent was about all he got, but his enthusiasm put through his plans.

GAYLE FINED $50

Violated Court Injunction Against Molesting His Wife.

For violation of an injunction order prohibiting him from molesting his wife pending a hearing on a divorce suit, W. C. Gayle was fined $50 and put under bond to keep the peace for three months. Judge Crump in the Law and Equity Court yesterday. The court has before it a divorce suit brought by Mary Gayle against her husband, W. C. Gayle. Pending its disposition, Judge Crump ordered Gayle to refrain from molesting or interfering with his wife in any way.

On complaint that Gayle had entered and stayed at his home, the court ordered that his cabin had been entered and a gold watch, locket, shotgun, marine glasses and other articles stolen. While he was making the complaint the man whom he accused of the theft was being tried in Police Court, No. 2, South Richmond, for being drunk and carrying a concealed weapon. The alleged thief, Tom Jones, was sentenced to the House of Correction for ninety days in jail.

Jones was arrested Monday night by Constable William B. Etheridge, on a disorderly conduct at Seventh and Perry Streets. He had with him the articles Captain Etheridge reported stolen.

When he had served his term he will be tried on the more serious charge.

LARGE BET PLACED ON CITY POLITICS

Griggs Man Puts Up $1,000—Bet Immediately Underwritten on Peculiar Terms.

As the upshot of a political discussion on Broad Street last night, a supporter of Wilbur J. Griggs for the office of City Sergeant offered to bet $1,000 to $500 that John L. Satterfield will not carry the city by more than 200 majority, which, in a vote of 8,000 to 9,000, would seem to argue his faith in the winning capacity of his favorite.

The bet was immediately covered and the money placed. Within five minutes friends of Mr. Satterfield had underwritten the $500 end, so that the man who placed it cannot lose in any event, while he will get half the $1,000 if he wins. The fact that the Satterfield man immediately placed the money at even bespeaks the fact that the Satterfield people regarded it as a cinch.

The contest for this office seems invariably to overshadow all others whenever it is to be held. In former days it was perhaps the best paying of any in the city, although in more recent years, because of the tendency to put more and more jail prisoners on the public roads, it has been steadily losing in remunerative qualities.

One reason why it has been more regularly contested than other places that pay much more money is that it can be won by anybody, while the clerk of a court must have exceptional ability or training, and this feeling usually insures long tenure for clerks.

PARAGRAPH PULPIT

Religion and Ethics. Unitarianism stands for unity between religion and ethics. Of course, in common with others, we speak of the two as separate and different. In an important sense they certainly are. Yet we disparage neither, and we recognize a deep, common life running through both. We see that they cannot be severed without injury to both. Ethics without religion is superficial, wanting in motive, wanting in persistence, wanting in permanent life, a tree without roots. Religion without ethics is a barren thing, a tree without fruit—may, it is a poison tree, whose very presence withers and curses all who come near it. Unitarian Publicity Committee—Advertisement.

ARCHITECTS PLAN FOR BIG EXHIBIT

Local Concerns Will Have Great Architectural Display During Week of May 26.

Plans for a great architectural display, the first to be held in this city, were adopted last night at the monthly meeting of the Richmond Architects' Association. The week of May 26 was agreed upon as the date for the exhibition, which will be held in the rooms of the Business Men's Club. The place will be arranged in booths and pictorial Richmond will be artistically shown.

It is the idea of the association to show to Richmonders what is actually being done by the local concerns at home. In order that the layman will have a better conception of the work of the architects, the buildings planned by them will be photographed, and these pictures will form the basis of the exhibition. Very few of the actual plans will be shown, as they interest only those with a technical training.

The need of such an exhibit was brought to the attention of the association several months ago. Since it was introduced before the members for their consideration the plans have rapidly progressed, and a committee, consisting of President Albert Hunt, W. H. Campbell and W. R. Murphy, has been working on the exhibit. The subject of the affair is to boost the Richmond architects collectively by graphically showing to the public the part taken by them in the city's building progress. Local concerns have planned many of the larger structures in the city, the value of the buildings erected from their drawings in the past year will, it is said, exceed $4,000,000.

Institutions to the exhibition will be sent to the exhibition by the Chamber of Commerce, Business Men's Club and other civic organizations. In addition, the members of the association will invite their clients to view the work of themselves and fellow members. The general public will also be welcomed.

EVERYBODY CANNING

Result of Girls' Club Work Is Decrease in Demand for Goods.

Complaints received by Ella G. Agnew, who is in charge of the girls' canning club work in Virginia, to the effect that the markets for the product in two counties has decreased because most people are now putting up their own tomatoes and other vegetables and fruits, have been received with delight. She takes it as a good omen, and a justification to which she is working—encouraging the women at home to do these things for themselves, instead of buying.

The two counties concerned are those in which the canning club work has been going on the longest, and this is taken as further indication that the heaven is working and that the people have caught the desired spirit. Besides, she is not afraid there will be no market for the surplus.

Reports from the colored women, who do similar work among their own race, are much to the same effect. Of course, in gaining this result Miss Agnew is working herself out of a job, for with general canning at home there will be few to teach. But she rejoices just the same.

RICHMOND MAN UNDER ARREST

Benjamin F. Saunders Held in Springfield, Mass., for Annoying Young Girls.

The following was received by The Times-Dispatch from Springfield, Mass., last night:

"In the arrest to-day of Benjamin F. Saunders, of Richmond, Va., said to be a young man of excellent family, there, the police claim to have captured a prisoner who has been causing a reign of terror among the young women of Springfield and vicinity for the past three months. Saunders came here last January from Richmond, where he had been working as a bookkeeper. Since January 6 he has been in the employ of the Quikley Furnace Company, and has been doing well as a bookkeeper. He is employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

While the youngsters face the grave charge of housebreaking they were not locked up, but were paroled by Krenzel for their appearance this morning in court.

Wilkinson, the police say, has never before been in trouble and has always been regarded as a promising youth. He is employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

According to Krenzel, Wilkinson and Reagan watched the Hebring home until they saw the family depart, and then went in and stole the money from the drawer they forced open.

It is stated that he has received much encouragement over the State since his candidacy was announced, and he is hopeful of winning the nomination by a good majority.
